Description

Impressionist work, dated 1899. Large oil on canvas by the famous impressionist painter Auguste Joseph Bracquemond 1833-1914 dit Félix Bracquemond is a painter, ceramist, engraver and decorator of French art objects. Representing a woman with a hat from the Belle Époque, dated and signed by the artist in the lower left. His work in painting is quite reduced. He plays an essential role in Impressionist Art, encouraging Édouard Manet, Edgar Degas and Camille Pissaro. On his advice, Jean-Baptiste Corot, Jean-François Millet, Édouard Manet, Edgar Degas, Camille Pissaro began to practice engraving. He helped Manet a lot for his etchings of Olympia and L'Homme mort. With Degas, Camille Pissarro and Mary Cassatt, he dreams of founding a magazine devoted to printmaking.
