Description

Superb and elegant bronze from the 18th century representing a "young woman with an antique" it rests on a square marble base surmounted by a column, encircled at its base with a finely chiseled gilt bronze. The statue represents a young woman dressed in an elegant drape, holding a book in her right hand and a grenade in her left hand. With a smiling face, she wears earrings and a pearl necklace. Very good quality of carving for this bronze with brown patina, the details are precise as much the expressions as in the drape. Quality set in excellent condition.
