Description

Description:

Gilded and patina chiseled bronze, black marble.

These large torches in the "troubadour" spirit consist of a large base in molded octagonal black marble with a large counter base in bronze worked with friezes.

On a corolla and a pedestal in a crenellated tower, a Renaissance man in posture wears a cornucopia, this one supports a very worked binet of volutes.

We are in the beautiful notable quality of the time.

Note the pen inscriptions under the base (details of the order made at the time).
