Description

Very pretty baluster-shaped sprinkler in blown and cut Bohemian crystal. The domed cover with a faceted grip button has five holes (a micro chip around one inside) for sprinkling; it is fixed to the body by screwing. The well-faceted body with a swollen lower body is mounted on a circular foot also cut (a visible chip on the base, see photo). Despite the two splinters announced, I consider this everyday object very acceptable, given its fragility and its age. I attach the photo of another model listed in the reference book on the subject (the glassware of Jacqueline Bellanger). Note: the threads cut in the crystal are remarkable for perfection and adjustment. Delivery: 10 EUR for metropolitan France.
