TROUILLEBERT Paul Désiré Born in Paris in 1829 / Death in 1900 in Paris - Painter of genres, figures, nudes, portraits, landscapes - Pupil de Hebert and Jallabert, Paul Désiré

TROUILLEBERT begins honorably portrait painter's career, but his meeting with Cobelch converts him so well to the landscape on nature that he does not live any more henceforth than in the orbit of city-d'Avray master, directing almost exclusively his researches on the open air and the depiction of the atmosphere - With frankness, Paul Désiré TROUILLEBERT will be inspired all his life of the same themes as Corot: The edges of the water in the morning and at sunset, the ponds in the countryside, the trees and the wood are so many subjects which do not stop seducing him - Of a brush which does not miss either a lightness, or a transparency, Paul Désiré TROUILLEBERT applies to translate, in the grey range of his elder , the bright and atmospheric values of the nature - His pleasant paintings had a striking success with the public and keep one Constant charm - Paul Désiré TROUILLEBERT exhibited to the Show from 1865.
