Description

Tiara comb with tortoiseshell branches with a silver inner frame and a gold honeycomb plate on the front. This comb is embellished with 3 stone camais, profiles of two men and one woman in the Antique style in medallions. They are encircled with blue enamel, presence of gaps and small chips around them as well as a slight slit on the central medallion. This tiara bears the hallmarks on the silver part with the current departmental rooster, guarantee mark 85, horse's head hallmark and master silversmith's mark. On the gold part, hallmark of the rooster's head and master silversmith's mark. Very beautiful object from the Empire period.
