Description

Dressing mirror in silvered bronze with chimera and dragon decorations.

The mirror is mercury and is fully beveled.

The structure of the set in silvered bronze is held upright thanks to a removable foot.

On the front side we find at the bottom of the mirror a shell to be able to deposit your jewelry.

Note that the front face has just been replenished according to the rules of the art.

The rear face has several removable screws, allowing access to the mirror part.

Presence of scratches at the location of a screw with a missing head, and a point of silvering on the base (see photos).

French work from the Napoleon III period.

No presence of hallmarks or signature.
