Description

Louis XVI style showcase from the early 19th century. It presents a beautiful marquetry on the facade as on the ribs. The hunting trophy decorations of this marquetry are of good quality. In addition, a garland marquetry is on the top rail. Most of the work on this showcase is in rosewood, amaranth and various wood species in marquetry and curling. Indeed, in addition to the marquetry, a work of curling, Greek Louis XVI, the amounts simulating grooves and other decorative nets, is present on this piece of furniture. Two beautiful gilded and chiseled bronzes adorn the uprights and another bronze attribute is on the bottom crosspiece. The interior of the display case, including the three shelves, is lined with a beautiful burgundy fabric. Finally, a breach marble from Aleppo covers the window.
