Description

This exquisite 19th-century biplace sleigh, crafted from iron and elm, showcases a beautiful blend of craftsmanship and functionality. The sleigh features an elegant front seat designated for the coachman, ensuring control and stability during winter excursions. The attention to detail is evident in the elaborate ornamentation of its structural elements, such as the brass brakes and lanterns, which are finely adorned.

The sleigh's body is enhanced by a striking blue and gold patina, with delicate golden accents that highlight its refined design. Beneath the seat lies a storage compartment, likely intended for cushions or other accessories, offering both practical use and aesthetic appeal.
