Description

Charming cabriolet armchair with viola back from the transition period. This chair rests on four tapered, fluted and rudent legs. The belts are molded. The cavet-shaped and fluted armrest supports join the axis of the front legs by an equally fluted stop. The connecting dice are all decorated with a sculpture of a daisy. The upholstery as well as the covering fabric are in house condition and require repair. The boiserie is in good condition, traces of use from old repairs. Shipping costs by carrier consult us.
