15 000 EUR

Period : 16th century

Condition : Très bon état

Width : 99

Description

Nice group of n. 7 double-leaf doors (14 doors), from an important Sienese palace.

They are all at the same table, proof of the prestige of the client who had them executed. The measurements are 99 x 203 each.

They are all in these conditions, in first patina, never restored and without any paint.

These doors would lend themselves perfectly to furnishing a villa or relocating them to a historic residence, but also a historic Umbrian-Tuscan building to adapt them to more modern environments.
