Description

canal frames have a story that we will invite you to discover soon on our site. For 25 years, we have been offering a large number of formats in this timeless and universal model which accompanied all painting trends between 1780 and 1900 with a parenthesis, the time of the Empire whose decorative codes had to break with the old diet . This small "structured" format with splendid gilding will be able to frame many subjects such as making an "object box" intended for the presentation of a collector's item: coin, medal etc.) Its frieze of laurel leaves punctuated in the centers of crossed ribbons, and its large acanthus leaves in the angles make this small specimen a magnificent example of the Louis XVI style magnified under the Second Empire where the craftsmen gave the best of themselves,
