Description

Colored print by the engraver

Augustin-Claude-Simon Legrand (1765-1815), after Philibert-Louis Debucourt (1755-1832), painter to the King.

Below, in the center, we read: Vive le Roy Follows the letter: "In a rustic room, opening onto an escape from the village an assembly of peasants, receives three hawkers who present it with an image of King Louis XVI, in profile bust on the left. Under the title: "Récit d'un Invalide, chez un Fermier de Haute Normandie by showing them an Image representing the Portrait of the King. "A text of five lines follows" It was on July 1, that we saw the dawn of the most beautiful day in France ... we had just reconquered our Roy. "

In a cartouche on the lower edge of the frame, we read : " To all François well born that // this
