Condition : Bon état

Diameter : 120 cm

Height : 120 cm

Description

Here is a stunning two-tiered basket of giant flowers and leaves that respects the golden ratio and glows with 18 lights. This imposing sculpture, part of which has been gilded with gold leaf, is completely removable. Here everything is festive and the luxury of the Venetian palaces illuminates your space with brilliance. Contrary to the colored chandeliers this object remains sober. Unlike the colored chandeliers, this piece is sober. Be careful, it is a unique piece that was recomposed more than thirty years ago from pieces of Murano and another chandelier that could come from Baccarat (but not signed because of its age). The bottom basket measures 40 cm in diameter and the three large twisted arms 45 cm if we take into account the cups. Then two other trio of shorter light arms bring us to a total of 9 arms well balanced in terms of their dimensions. The lower part is completed by 9 large and thick leaves. This chandelier was reassembled for the former owner who had it completely restored, so the electricity is quite rescued and the whole has been dismantled and cleaned. the basket on top is smaller (25 cm ?) and in turn brings together 3 sets of three arms plus a bouquet. The central structure of the chandelier consists of a threaded rod of 12mm and two restored wooden trays with holes and inserted in the two cups. these trays allow the dismantling of all the pieces, some of which (flowers and leaves of Murano) are worn in the lower part (not visible). In the center we find placed on each tray of clip connections easily removable and a filling of three golden glass coils that hide the threaded rod and which have been cut to size.

According to the former owner, this chandelier was originally meant to be even taller!

The whole is nevertheless very homogeneous and it is really a masterpiece for a very very adjusted price. The buyer is precisely informed of all these elements in order to avoid any surprise or dispute. The price of this absolutely exceptional chandelier has been calculated taking into account these elements and will not be subject to any significant reduction.

Sold as is, no claim will be accepted given the very precise description above.

To take in the center of Paris Monceau district.

The chandelier fits in 4 European standard boxes provided if needed.

Dismantling not included, transport not included on request.
