

PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Attributed To Louis Hector Leroux, Portrait Of A Woman Dressed In The Antique In A Pompeian Inter

650 EUR

Signature : Attribué à Louis Hector Leroux (1829-1900)

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état - panneau légèrement voilé

Width : 17

Height : 24,5

Description

Attributed to Louis Hector Leroux (Verdun 1829-Angers 1900)

Portrait of a woman dressed in the antique style, in a Pompeian interior

Oil on panel (slightly domed panel)

24.5 x 17 cm

Louis Hector Leroux was a pupil of François-Edouard Picot. Winner of a second Rome Prize in 1857, he left for Rome. Following this stay, he became passionate about and specialized in the representation of ancient subjects. Many portraits or interior scenes of his work are set in the Roman world, ancient characters and divinities. This portrait represents a young woman in profile dressed in a toga and Roman jewelry. She is held in an interior decorated with Pompeian frescoes

Dealer

Bailliet Antiquités

Painting-Drawing-Frame

Tel : 06 18 78 28 60

Lyon 69000

with, for furniture, a curule chair on the right on which is placed a fabric.