Luca Madrassi - Allegory of the Harvests
Terracotta Height: 49 cm
Signed: "L. Madrassi. Paris"

Luca Madrassi (1848-1919) is a French sculptor of Italian origin. Passing through the workshop of Carrier-Belleuse then working for Gustave Doré, the young artist immersed himself in the trends of 19th century sculpture. Known for its production rich in allegories and busts, there is a tendency to neoclassicism. This terracotta sculpture signed Luca Madrassi represents an Allegory of the Harvests.
The grapes being the fruit of the harvest, the young woman carries a basket of them and throngs them at her feet. The treading at the foot of the grape is an old tradition sometimes still in
