Description

According to DRANSY. Polychrome pipe clay statuette on an oval base representing Nectar the delivery man, normal wear. France circa 1925
Emblem of the Nicolas house and very rare figurine with a few copies all different because they were finished individually Born in 1922 from Dransy's pencil and inspired by a delivery man from the house named Le Paven, the frail delivery man with a mustache with saucer eyes loaded with bottles in each hand, achieved immediate and undisputed popular success.
