Description

Important electrified kerosene lamp, Louis XV style in silvered bronze decorated with a love with golden patina. On a scalloped and ornate base with acanthus leaves rises a gadrooned cornucopia on which is spread a vegetal decoration of acanthus leaves, supporting a cup with rich openwork decoration. In this receptacle rests the reservoir with gadrooned decoration, electrified and supporting the lampshade. Top grip in the shape of an exploded pomegranate. Beautiful oval shade in old gold color. Some wear of gilding in no way affecting the beauty of this lamp because it is reminiscent of the golden patina of the cherub. Electrification in very good working order, 2.50 m of silver-colored canvas wire, silver-colored olive and plug. Total height 83 cm
