Description

This church console, dating from the end of the 19th century, was intended to present a fairly large statue.

The cabinetmaker was able to combine functional solidity and elegance of the Gothic style by creating beautiful fenestration carved with a gouge in high quality oak wood.

The fixing lugs are original and the upper plate has a notch which was intended to receive the cartridge bearing the name of the saint.

This console can find its primary purpose by highlighting an old religious object but can also present a statue or a more contemporary
