

Nineteenth Chinese Silk Embroidery Hanging Framed Cm 135x 32

600 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Silk

Length : 135

Height : 32

Description

Embroidery in polichrome silk threads on a red background of silk, representing a scene animated by several characters. The embroidery is attached to a cardboard which keeps it stretched inside a frame protected by a glass. We have removed the frame and the glass to check the state of conservation of the fabric which is in good condition, given the dating, with really minimal defects (do not hesitate to contact us for more detailed photos) .The item will be shipped separately from the frame and glass to avoid damaging the fabric in the event of glass breakage. Reassembly in the frame will therefore be the buyer's responsibility. However, considering shipping the embroidery only, as the frame is not of a high-quality material, this would significantly reduce shipping costs.
