Description

Pair of blown glass wall lights made by Pustetto Zanetti of Murano around the seventies of the twentieth century. In the center, in relief, Arlecchino and Colombina, two characters from the Commedia dell'Arte. The wall lights are approximately 28 cm high, have a maximum width of 15 cm and a projection of 10 cm. One flaw: the Harlequin hat is "chipped" to the brim (see last photo).
