Pair Of Tazzas With Angels Carrying A Clam XIXth

3 400 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Bronze

Description

Description :

Chiseled and gilded bronze, black marble.

These unusual models of tazzas represent two cherubs each carrying a large clam valve. The scene is marine because they are sitting on a rock on which we see shells and aquatic plants. The quality of the carving is very close to the work of the XVIIIth century, the details are detailed, it will be noted in particular on the wings, and especially in the naturalism of the clam valve. The "drawing" of the two cherubs represented in different postures is completely in the model of the subjects of the XVIIIth.
