Description

Pineapple door in opaline XIX; This object had a particular function in the eighteenth and early nineteenth, that of presenting a pineapple (exotic fruit rare and expensive at that time). The big houses presented them and sometimes even rented them at receptions. It is a beautiful object fallen into oblivion but which is very decorative and which, why not, can be brought up to date given the price of this fruit! Dimensions: 36 cm high and 17 cm in diameter. Delivery on estimate.
