Description

Rare set of "TESSUTO" lights designed by Massimo Vignelli. It is indeed exceptional to be able to combine the three sizes of these lamps, moreover, having their travertine bases with the cutout allowing you to embed the three lights according to your desires in order to create an original set. Massimo Vignelli was born in Milan in 1931. In 1949, he participated in the International Congress of Modern Architecture in Bergamo where he met the best European architects of the time. He studied architecture at the Polytechnic in Milan and at the IUAV University in Venice. It was there that he met Paolo Venini who offered to design lamps in blown glass. He settled permanently in the United States in 1964 and made himself known throughout the world in the field of graphics,
