

Pair Of Sconces " Putti Blowers" From The Regence Period

12 000 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Bronze

Description

Description:

Chiseled bronze, ormoulu. These appliques have on the plate two putti with swollen cheeks, these faces are also the representation of Zephyr wind from the West and the North West. This model was very successful and was even later taken up by the bronzier Germain. A similar pair is at Charlottenburg Palace in Berlin.

The particularity of Regence wall lights is the different design of each of the sconces and their basin and binet.

For the technique, we will note the twisted threads, the binets in two shells, the arms gripped by iron screws and bronze nuts.
