Description

Tabriz rug circa 1970 in hand-knotted wool from Iran and measuring 231 cm x 336 cm long. Small price for a carpet in used condition, family home spirit, slight sunstroke on the medallion and border and fringes in used condition. This carpet is clean, the wool is soft and thick knotted admirably and tightly revealing shades full of contrasts, a beautiful medallion surrounded by a half of flowers placed on a midnight blue field surrounded by four interlacing spandrels, palm and gazelles on red background and abundantly ornate borders. The nuances underline this learned floral design in the great tradition of Persian art, inspired by the miniatures of the school of Tabriz, then capital of the Persian empire. The kerk wool is the softest wool, taken under the belly and under the neck of lambs. Tabriz (Azerbaijani:
