

Healthy Anne Monoxyle XIV XVth

Description

hard to define ... We already know that it is a monoxyl religious statue representing Ste Anne, We can see that it is very old, it has kept the traces of its original polychromy. We can clearly see her wimple which hides her neck, We already know that she spent a long time subject to the vagaries of the weather, of the one who tired her, of the one who soaked her, of the one he offers it to us today with this superb patina. We can see it in a refined decor, which will put it, again for ages, well in value. On the other hand, we do not see if it is a rather Breton work or if its stylistics are related to the canon of the kingdom of Savoy.

500 EUR

Period : Before 16th century

Condition : Patine

Material : Solid wood

Width : 14

Height : 37

Depth : 11

Dealer

Complément d'objets

sciences, ethnical, naturalia, artificialia, didactical items, curiosities

Tel :

Mobile : 00 32 477 450 595

Wemmel 1780