Description

Beautiful curved window from the Napoleon III period opening with a curved glass door on the front and giving access to two shelves covered with a flowered velvet inside. Two other curved windows allow a view of the interior on the sides. The windows are framed with ornaments in the rococo style in bronze, which can also be found in fall, on the pediment and the apron. The parts under the windows are decorated with flower baskets made in marquetry. The showcase rests on four feet, the two of which on the front are curved and with bronze shoes.
