Description

Camus Cognac Royal Wedding 1981 Decanter
Still a family owned company, Camus sold mainly to the Tzars of Russia until the revolution. They managed to avoid bankruptcy in the 1960s by striking a deal with American traders under the name of "Duty Free Shoppers", a relationship which is as strong today as it was back in the 1960
Camus bottled this book decanter as a " La Grande Marque" for the Royal Wedding inJuly 29 1981 of Prince Charles and Princess Diana.
