Description

Superb and rare pair of paintings of religious scenes on vellum from the 17th century. It represents for one the annunciation with an angel presenting himself to the virgin and for the other, Christ before the virgin Mary. His 2 paintings are presented in a coat of arms surrounded by flower decoration of great finesse. The high quality set is very colorful, the colors have remained bright and bright. The 2 paintings are presented in a gilt wood frame from the same period. Work of great quality and great finesse in perfect condition and conservation, rare in pairs.
