Description

Jacques Bartoli passers-by crossing the road certainly in the south of France having painted a lot on Toulon and Marseille in a superb patinated wooden frame excellent general condition delivery 40 euros Born in Sollocaro in 1920, a small Corsican village near Ajaccio, Jacques Bartoli moved to Toulon in 1938. Enrolled in the School of Fine Arts in 1941, Eugène Baboulène, whose studio he attended, became his advisor and friend. Intimate painter in his compositions, he stages idealized characters. Racetracks, indoor scenes, masked balls or seaside. The process of glazing after draft, exalts the chromatic freshness of his interior visions. He won numerous awards, and exhibited with the Drouant gallery all over the world. Museums: Granet d'Aix, Nice, Menton.
