Hollow multi-lobed tray in old Minâkâri, ancestral technique of enamelling on copper from Isfahan, Iran, from the end of the 19th century. In very good collectible condition, very slight lacks on the edges of the dish.

Representation of a medallion in the center of this tray sumptuously decorated by hand with a brush for a work of immense finesse, six colorful birds playing in a semi of flowers and foliage, in relief in the bottom of the tray.

Frieze of small roses and decoration of six large cartouches remarkably calligraphed in white on a midnight blue background and semi-gold flowers. The border of the lobes in finely colored half-cartridges.

The top is placed on a white enamelled piedouche like the entire reverse
