Description

Pair of Louis XV Rocaille style silver-plated salt shakers.
They both consist of a handle which is different for each one in order to differentiate the salt and the pepper, then of a lid which is raised and giving place to a glass verrine and a salt spoon in silver metal.
Note that the spoons are not identical, one of the two is monogrammed and is not in perfect condition, there is a visible shock at the back.
Very good condition of the salt cellars.
Ideal for a pretty table.
French work from the end of the 19th century by the silversmith Victor Saglier (1809 - 1894).

Dimensions -
Total weight : 350 grams
