Description

A monumental vase with a bird (robin?) Chasing a fly. The animal sits on a branch which has an incredibly beautiful flower (lily?). This subject in Japanese art is called Kacho-ga, which means images of birds and flowers, and was extremely popular during the Edo and Meiji period. The scene was shown in a very realistic and expressive way. Cast bronze, hand carved, polished and patinated. Japan, Meiji period (1868-1912), Maruki Company, Seisui artist. The marks read: ? ? ? ? Maruki-sei (done) ? ? Seisui (the name of the craftsman). Height: 49cm. The condition is visible in the photos, good, no damage, but there are scratches and abrasions on the patina.
