Description

In full terracotta, unpolished finish mounted on a black marble base veined with white. Art Deco 30 sculptural treatment. Lioness, with musculature playing with marked volumes which amplifies the strength of the animal. She has a straight head, she holds her lion cub in her mouth. He has his paws gathered and lets himself be wisely carried, confident, by the skin of the neck. The theme of the sculpture is based on the contrast between the strength of the lioness and the delicacy with which she carries her cub in her mouth which serves her. usually to kill its prey. The whole is in good condition, the quality sculpture is to be attributed...
