graduate of Fine Arts, he specializes in the field of tapestry and becomes a cardboard-weaver. It was from 1988 that he devoted himself exclusively to painting, his field of predilection. The work of Magis is to be placed in the movement of "lyrical abstraction". Generally working on large formats, he throws on his canvases large movements bringing forms and tasks, sometimes drips, in a very controlled gestural writing. His palette is singing, the bright colors rub shoulders with deep hues, the odds and ends contrast with immaculate whites. Generous and passionate, prolific and internationally recognized artist Pascal Magis died too early at the end of 2011, leaving behind many major works in abstract art, far from the figurative trends of Perigord artists.
