Description

Very beautiful Louis XV period armchair in waxed natural wood, 18th century. Beautiful work of acanthus leaf sculpture on the base, nicely eventful front cross member. The woodwork of our armchair is in good condition, traces of wear are obviously visible. This seat is covered with a very beautiful anthracite-colored leather, the upholstery is in very good condition. Firm and comfortable seat. Some wear from use (signs of friction) can be noted on the leather of the armrests. They are not serious and give a nice patina to the leather.
