Description

The sculpture is titled "The First Prize". It represents a young woman lifting her hat in a gesture of joy or perhaps of greeting. The figurine and its costume are made with the greatest attention to detail. Cast bronze, hand chiseled, polished and patinated. Naturalism, France, 2nd half of the 19th century. Sign. "C. Anfrie" and "The First Prize By Anfrie". Charles Anfrie (1833-1905) - French sculptor, active in Paris. He mainly produced bronze works in the spirit of academism and naturalism. Many works refer to historical and mythological themes, as well as to everyday life. Height 44 cm. Condition as seen in the photos, very good.
