Description

Elegant painting on canvas XIXth representing a festive scene outside. We see different people including a woman holding a child in her arms sitting on benches around a table. One of them holds in her hand a pitcher and a glass, 2 other smokes and a 4th also has a glass in her hand. The whole scene takes place in a farmyard with a body of water in the background, a building and a village in the background. Beautiful quality of painting for this scene of life where the colors remained vivid and luminous, the whole presented in a period frame in gilded wood at the beginning of the 19th century.
