Description

In the form of a revolving decoration, this lacustrine landscape in multilayer glass is acid-etched (cameo glass), treated with orange and brown on a yellow-white background. This baluster-shaped vase is distinguished in particular by its signature with the star, a mark applied to the last pieces of the master glassmaker's production when the workshops were taken over by his widow, Henriette Gallé (1848 - 1914).
Rare proof in perfect condition.
