Description

This elegant bedside table from the Napoleon III period and Louis XVI style, in marquetry and red marble top (breach). The marquetry is composed of rosewood, mahogany, checkerboard net (drawers), and light and dark threads. The facade opens with a drawer and a door imitating two drawers, one can notice inside its white marble. The furniture is decorated with gilded bronzes. Note that the red marble was broken and glued properly. For more information, please feel free to contact us.
