Description

Ring in 14 KT yellow gold (scallop hallmark) in the shape of a dome adorned in its center with a beautiful emerald-cut emerald. The structure of the ring derives from the lines of this stone, drawn on the body by lines of yellow gold used to set the diamonds: thus, the emerald is perpetuated in its length by two lines of baguette-cut diamonds, while the emerald cut sides, slanted, inspired slanted radius lines, giving this ring a dome shape, paved with brilliant-cut diamonds. The structure of this ring evokes the Art Deco lines. Emerald offers the characteristics of a beautiful stone, a characteristic garden visible through the transparency effect on the photos but not very visible when worn on the finger, a magnificent crystallization, a beautiful brilliance, and a sustained color (however difficult to restore
