Description

Beautiful oil on canvas:

"The correspondence of a "poilu""

Signed by Leo Lelée and dated 1915.

The painter Leopold Lelée is a French painter and illustrator, he is listed in the Benezit, and is also one of the small masters of painting.
Best known for his works by the Arlésiennes, Léo Lelée, who lived at the front, produced drawings and paintings that are precious testimonies of the daily life of the "poilus" at the front.
This is the case of this oil on canvas that shows us a scene where a soldier writes his correspondence in the light of a lamp while his comrades sleep.
The touch is very beautiful, it releases from this
