Description

Small 18th century Flemish painting on canvas representing a fire in a city at night animated by many characters.

a painting in chiaroscuro full of shades and shades of orange, yellow and brown colors revealing flames escaping from houses, houses in ruins and a dense crowd gathered saving what can be saved while other characters try to escape through windows etc., the theme is quite unusual and treated in the manner of a miniature.

the canvas was re-lined in the 19th century on a charming little fir tree key frame with a maker's mark marked: I.Peel, Liner, like a stamp.

the frame was changed at the same time, a sober frame in wood and gilded stucco.

a charming Flemish painting with a very beautiful
