Museum: Carved Boxwood, 17th Century, Sacrifice Of Isaac

1 000 EUR

Signature : Art Flamand

Period : 17th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Solid wood

Length : 5cm

Width : 3,5cm

Height : 8cm

Description

Surprising little boxwood object, openwork carved, French or Flemish work from the early 17th century, in the spirit of carved knife handles, wood or ivory, of the time. (see document in last photo, "Treen", H. Pinto).
It is the pommel or the handle of an object, entirely openwork, carved with a rich decoration inspired by the reading of the Bible, it presents, turning: a long snake with good smile, a lion reclining on a boot, a great erect eagle, an owl, a sheep, a father carrying a sword, and his son, (Probably Abraham and Isaac: they both went away together" (v 8 ch .12 Genesis)) an archangel who intervenes in time, all this under a pleated and leafy canopy where a pansy flower grows. Dimensions 8cm x 5cm x 3.5cm.
Small posterior black wooden base.

Dealer

Eclecticnimes
Curiosity, Collection Cabinet objects,
Tel : +33665241111
Mobile : 06-65-24-11-11

Bellegarde 30127

Condition: Excellent, nice patina. Little wear.
Unique object, forming a sort of cage.
This object is for immediate purchase, payable by credit card or paypal.
- eclectic - antique dealers since 1970, Siret: FR 24.430113233. Invoice and Certificate are attached to each of our shipments.