Description

Elegant Brass sideboard, attributed to the famous Maison Jansen of international renown, which was one of the most recognized and influential interior design companies of the 20th century. This occasional piece of furniture is made up of three wooden trays, with brass fields, covered in fawn leather decorated with a small "Greek-style" golden vignette. These shelves rest on four grooved cylindrical legs, surmounted by pine cones and ending finely in a cone. The sides, dressed in Saint Andrew's cross decorated with a flower in their center, reinforce the whole. You will inevitably be seduced by this serving shelf in an assumed neoclassical style, to which you can attribute various uses and functions due to its attractive dimensions.
