Description

Derbent rug from the large Shirvan family originating from the Caucasus, in hand-knotted wool, decorated with four multi-lobed medallions, circa 1980. This rug presents four very ornate purple, midnight blue, pale blue and salmon medallions in the center of a field of almost khaki color. The bright colors, dominated by shimmering purple, bring out all the patterns wonderfully. It is not uncommon to find in the manufactures of these countries very bright colors, purple, yellow, red, orange, blue which awaken the decorations of these knotted or woven carpets. The Derbent originate from the top of Daghestan, near the Caspian Sea and remain emblematic carpets of the Russian Caucasus. From the 1960s, we only made wool on wool but also wool on cotton. The border followed by two

NB / A REAL CARPET which, compared to its price, represents a value, it is purchased under the best conditions, from a competent carpet merchant, passionate and in love with his work. His knowledge, his reputation as an expert, his sense of responsibility obliges him to sell honestly. Auction fire, on the other hand, involves a great deal of experience, as opportunities to examine and inquire about the rug are limited, and many auctioneers deny the buyer any warranties. A competent merchant will favor objective judgment so that the rug does not become a cause for disappointment.
