Statue "putali", Stone, Népal

520 EUR

Signature : Népal
Period : 20th century
Condition : Etat d'usage
Material : Stone
Height : 29 cm

Description

Village or household protection statue representing a crouching figure, hands joined in a traditional posture. The stone is covered with a thick ancient patina of libations and smoke.
These protective statues are called "Putali" and are usually made of wood. Stone ones are much rarer.
Jajarkot District, Nepal First part of the 20th century.
H: 29 cm
Provenance: former Limousine collection

Dealer

Curiositas
Arts premiers, archéologie
Mobile : 0637773819

Ternand 69620