Description

Elegant 18th century Louis XVI drop-leaf desk in mahogany richly decorated with gilded bronze. It has a large storage capacity thanks to the many drawers of different sizes located in the base, retracted behind the flap and in the upper gallery. The ornamental bronzes are finely chiselled and gilded with leaf. Open it offers a large work surface, the leather is in perfect condition. Period keys and locks are all present! The drawer slots are in oak. Work of a remarkable quality of execution to be compared to the greatest cabinetmakers of the end of the 18th century such as Jean Henri Riesener...
