Description

Splendid and rare Christ in gilded bronze - Artistic sphere of Pietro Tacca (Carrara, September 6, 1577 - Florence, 1640), probably the workshop of the sculptors of Florence (?). Physiognomic characterization of the masses carried out proportionally, according to dry canons and tending to realistic and natural representation. The aching face of Christ is reported with some attention to detail, particularly with regard to the hair. Magnificent, the well-executed thong is characterized by the large knot that leaves the Christ's left hip uncovered and by the garnet decoration. Note the fine finishing and sanding work that has been done on the artifact.

The dimensions of the christ are: 21cm
